DIVERSE LEARNERS: STORYTELLING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM

Workshop Leader: Sherry Norfolk

For Classroom and Special Education Teachers of Grades Pre K–2

3 hours of instruction time

Storytelling is a powerful differentiation strategy that can help teachers in self-contained and inclusive classrooms reach young students, particularly those who may not respond well to other teaching strategies. In this helpful workshop, explore flexible, adaptable storytelling strategies for authentically addressing cross-curricular standards in the primary grades and giving young students with special needs a joyful way to demonstrate their understandings and achieve their learning goals.

SHERRY NORFOLK is an award-winning storyteller, author and teaching artist, performing and leading residencies and professional development workshops nationally and internationally. Co-editor with Jane Stenson of the Storytelling Classroom series (four books that explore rigorous, standards-based storytelling strategies for learning across the curriculum), a Kennedy Center Teaching Artist, a Wolf Trap Teaching Artist, and Adjunct Professor at Lesley University, Sherry is a recognized leader in integrating learning through storytelling.
